Beginning Japanese 1

Jun Imaki

This course is designed to provide a range of knowledge and skills necessary to develop Japanese communication at a beginners' level, and to establish a basis for further study of the language and culture.

By the end of the course you should have a fundamental understanding of everyday Japanese. The course covers grammatical patterns, Japanese characters, and a range of everyday vocabulary as well as Japanese culture.

See detailed outline enclosed.

NB There is no textbook used for this course. Jun will provide handouts in class.

Jun holds a BA from Kanda University of International Studies, Japan and a Masters Degree in Applied Linguistics from the University of Southern Queensland. She has been teaching in high schools in Queensland and Canberra, and at ANU since 2007. Jun has experience in teaching adult students of all levels.
