

COMMERCIALISATION TRAINING SCHEME

Graduate Certificate in Commercialisation

Attention all ANU PhD or Masters by Research Students

- Would you like the opportunity to explore the commercial potential of your research?
- Learn about what makes a business successful and innovative?
- Gain the opportunity to build networks with industry and like-minded students?

In the second semester of 2010 The Australian National University (ANU) is offering a Graduate program that has been specifically designed for its future research and business leaders.

Enrolments are now open, with full scholarships available.

The Certificate is relevant to students from all disciplines who would like to add another dimension to their current academic qualifications. It provides an opportunity for students to explore the commercial potential of their research, and to build networks with industry and other like-minded students.

Program content will be presented by both ANU academics and industry professionals; allowing students to gain top level, cutting edge insight into areas such as commercialisation, business and marketing, financial management, entrepreneurship, intellectual property and enterprise.
