2. The value of each prize is $500.
3. The prizes shall be awarded each year to the students who, in that year:
 - a. Were enrolled in Year Four of the Bachelor of Medicine Bachelor of Surgery Program;
 - b. have completed their urban general practice rotations during the Integrated Community and Child Health Term in Year Three of the Program;
 - c. have been nominated by their urban GP Supervisors as having exceptional interest, aptitude and commitment to general practice and including those students who are nominated by several GP supervisors; and
 - d. have been further assessed by the Selection Committee using Year Three general practice exam results and portfolio reviews.
4. The members of the Selection Committee will include appropriate representation from the Academic Unit of General Practice and Community Health.
5. The Selection Committee will decide on no more than three prizes to be awarded in any year.
6. If in any year fewer than three students are assessed as suitable by the Dean of the ANU Medical School acting on the advice of the Selection Committee, then one, two or no prizes may be awarded that year.

The ANU Medical School General Practice Prize is sponsored by the ACT Division of General Practice. Up to three prizes to the value of $500 each will be awarded to students who in their third year general practice attachments demonstrated exceptional interest, aptitude and commitment to general practice.

The ACT Division of General Practice has instituted this prize to help motivated, highly performing medical students to consider general practice as a long term career choice.
