1. Special circumstances are defined as beyond a person's control, and such that they have a direct bearing on the student's educational performance. 'Beyond a person's control' is defined in the following way: 'circumstances are beyond a person's control if a situation occurs that a reasonable person would consider is not due to the person's action or inaction, either direct or indirect, and for which the person is not responsible. This situation must be unusual, uncommon or abnormal.' Pre-existing conditions are not ruled out, but it is suggested that consideration be given to whether that condition changed in a way to affect the performance of the student in a way that might otherwise not have been expected.
2. Applications and supporting documents are confidential.
3. Applicants with no tertiary study must apply through the Educational Access Scheme administered by UAC. See www.uac.edu.au for more information. Applicants who submit an Application for Special Consideration in stead of the Educational Access Scheme will not be considered.
4. If you are applying for consideration on the basis of tertiary study alone (ignore Year 12 results) you must have completed at least one year of full time study.
5. Your statement must outline the reasons for your poor performance in your study, what has now changed and why you now have the capacity to succeed at tertiary study.
6. All applications must include supporting documents that substantiate your claims. They must also offer evidence of your capacity to succeed. Examples of supporting documents are: doctors certificates to support lengthy health issues likely to affect study, letters from doctors outlining how a condition affected study, letters from teachers outlining issues experienced at school or study, letters from employers outlining ongoing responsibility or reliable service. You may also submit personal references, examples of work or selections of relevant readings undertaken.
7. Your entrance rank must be over the minimum entry requirements of the University for Special Consideration to be successful. The minimum ATAR or equivalent rank is 70 or 75 depending on the undergraduate program.
8. Applications are assessed through the Admissions Office. Applications are assessed on the merit of the information provided including supporting documentation. Applications without supporting documentation will not be successful. The recommendation of the Admissions Office will be forwarded to the relevant College Student Administration Office for review by the Delegated Authority. The Admissions Office will issue the formal outcome of your application for Special Consideration.
