'Myself with Flynn, Leura, 1936' From the National Library's Manuscript Collection (MS 5826)

Marking the centenary of the birth of one of Australia's most significant poets, this conference will examine the life, work and influence of A.D. Hope with three days of papers and readings from major Australian and international scholars and poets, one day devoted to discussions of Hope's work, another to Hope's place in Australian and international poetry, and a third to biographical concerns.

Keynote speaker: Kevin Hart, University of Notre Dame.

For enquiries, expressions of interest and offers of papers (20 minutes, by April 6): contact the convener, David Brooks,
