07 The Campus
Life in ANU residences is more than just a place to live and sleep. Living in one of our residences gives you access to a wide range of support to help settle in and thrive at ANU. It’s a life-changing opportunity to meet and mix with people from a diverse range of backgrounds to make life-long friends and networks. Living on campus also gives you access to pastoral care that supports your academic success and personal development.

Each of our residences have a range of amenities and activities to support you and to build a healthy, safe community.

The residences are secure with controlled access to the building and your room. CCTV cameras are in operation, ANU security regularly patrol the campus and are only a phone call away.

The residences have live-in support available from senior residents and community coordinators who have lived in the community and have studied at the ANU for a number of years. They are available to you for advice and guidance. The residential halls also have a range of other staff available, including a Head of Residence who, with their team, can assist you with any problems and link you in with the wide range of academic and personal support services available on campus and in the Canberra community.

The residential environment at the ANU is a vibrant living-learning community with a range of social programs and events to have fun with your peers in your residence as well as events with other residences to extend your social networks. There are sporting, social, arts and community-based events as well as a strong academic program in each of our residences to help you with your main priority of succeeding in your studies at the ANU. We know that students who get involved in residence activities gain value from these experiences.

Our residences each have an ethos and sense of community that creates a unique character. They all share a high-quality standard of pastoral and academic support and a commitment to providing a positive experience to all residents. This brochure provides information on each of our residences, please also have a look at our website to seek additional information or make contact with the residence or the central accommodation team to learn more about our on campus residential communities. Information on how to apply for accommodation is also on our website.

Life at ANU will include both triumphs and challenges. I can guarantee that you will have access to great services and caring people who can support you to solve problems and enrich your many experiences at ANU.

Susan Helyar
Director of Residential Experience ANU
Why live on campus?

As an academic residential community, we provide a ‘home away from home’ that provides unique opportunities for intellectual, cultural, social and sporting engagement.

We welcome residents who are accepting of others, and keen to make a contribution, and participate in the myriad of events — sporting, cultural and academic — that we offer.

On Campus residences provide

- Accommodation that helps students feel safe, comfortable and able to succeed.
- Opportunities to meet new people from diverse cultures and share experiences.
- Engagement with the community and attend activities.
- Accessible rooms and amenities available.
- Academic support and enrichment.
- A place that supports your transition to independent living.
Community

Each of our Halls, Colleges Lodges and Houses offers a unique and inclusive communal living experience. The pastoral care models are second to none and the residential experience enriches every student who lives on campus.

Sport

Residents are encouraged to get involved in the Inter-Hall sports competition at ANU. This involves competing in a wide array of sports, which contribute points towards the annual sports shield.

There are many sports to choose from including men's and women's hockey, tennis, basketball, cricket, volleyball, soccer, table tennis, swimming and the Daley Road Relay. Other sporting options are Inward Bound, rugby league, netball, softball and Aussie Rules. All residents are encouraged to have a go at the various sports.
Arts

The Halls, Lodges, Colleges and Houses provide facilities for music practice and for music performances. Cultural activities such as theatre, musical recitals, and poetry evenings are held throughout the year.

Cultural activities

Include chess, debates, public speaking, trivia competitions, annual art exhibitions, talent nights and short story writing. These all contribute towards the Inter-Hall Arts Shield. There is also an Inter-Hall Social Committee who organises the annual Inter-Hall Ball.
Opportunities for rural & regional students

• Support to settle into a city lifestyle.
• Friendships and networks.
• Community engagement.
• Scholarships.
Testimonial from Ellie George

Moving from my regional hometown of Tamworth to Canberra was a big step for me. I had never lived away from home before — let alone so far away — and all my school friends either stayed in town or went to universities a lot closer to home.

Canberra felt big and busy, so I was really grateful that I moved into Bruce Hall, which is my residential college. Some of the older students that I lived with took us on walks into the city so that we could find our way around, showed where to park our cars and where to buy our books, so that we weren’t figuring everything out on our own.

Despite not knowing anybody in Canberra when I first moved, I felt immediately welcome at Bruce. There were heaps of events and activities to help all of us get to know each other; though all of us were coming from different places — rural, regional, or metropolitan — we were all finding our way in a new environment.

Bruce Hall has become a home away from home for me, and the opportunities that I’ve had here have been amazing. Living on campus at the ANU, I’ve met and built relationships with hundreds of talented, motivated people from all over Australia. I’ve learned about leadership, teamwork, and how to push myself and aim higher. I feel so lucky to be a part of a community that is so supportive and conducive to growth, but that also allows me to stay true to myself.
Testimonial from Maisie Walker Stelling

Growing up in regional Victoria, Canberra and the ANU seemed worlds away from our small town. Moving here, Burton and Garran Hall provided a home away from home which I am convinced is the best I will ever experience.

The community thrives on a culture of what can only be described as rambunctious kind-heartedness — from the moment I arrived, I felt that the staff, pastoral care team and the community as a whole genuinely cared for my wellbeing. There is a place for everyone at B&G, of all backgrounds and interests; it is this melting pot of life-histories which helped me expand my horizons to sporting and academic opportunities which I may have never experienced otherwise.

In addition, living on campus with such a diverse group has helped me to become fast friends with people I could never have met without the supporting nature of this community. Without hesitation, I can highly recommend B&G as a welcoming place for anyone considering on-campus living.
International students

Cultural diversity and cross-cultural awareness is embraced across the ANU campus. Learning, growing and developing an understanding of our student’s country of origin sees our campus being truly an international one.

Accommodation guarantee for international undergraduate students in their first year, first semester at the ANU.

We have plenty of room for postgraduate students who can choose to live in a mixed student community or a specialist postgraduate residence.

Great opportunity to meet new people and an opportunity to build your connection. Students who have different academic studies to you, have different hobbies and interests and may come from many different countries. Together you can share in learning new life skills, new recipes and new experiences.
Testimonial from Tim Chan

Travelling thousands of miles away from home to study abroad, without a shadow of a doubt, is one of the most challenging things I have ever done in my life. Yet it is definitely the best decision I have ever made so far.

Prior to my arrival, I was so nervous: Canberra was completely new to me and I had no idea about the environment and challenges I was going to face. Luckily, I chose to stay in Wright Hall. Residents and staff members here are very friendly and caring. They are the nicest people I have ever met. They are eager to offer me assistance to settle into and adapt to life in ANU and Australia. They are more than just my friends. They are my family here (Yes, both residents and staff members here in Wright Hall).

Living in residential halls not only has granted me opportunities to join various events and chances to meet people from all around the world, but also academic support from my fellow residents. They offered me advice on studying in the university and the methods to ace the academic challenges ahead. This is something you could never experience elsewhere.

Living in ANU and Wright Hall is something you would never want to miss, and I am always proud to call ANU and Wright Hall my home.
Location

ANU residences are all within walking distance to shops, lecture theatres and public transport. Canberra has some of the best cycling infrastructure in Australia with dedicated on and off-road bicycle paths connecting all of Canberra's suburbs. ANU is well serviced by bike paths and is a quick cycle away from the town center of Civic. All ANU residences offer secure bike storage.
Parking

ANU offers limited designated paid student parking. If you intend on bringing a car you should discuss with ANU parking prior to arrival at parking@anu.edu.au. With reliable public transport, short distances and great cycling facilities, we encourage you not to bring a car.
Getting around Canberra and campus

Transportation is easily accessible being so close to the city; buses, Uber, taxi services and the tram are all great forms of travel. The services are reliable and timely. There are walking tracks close by with some of the best views of Canberra. If you like to hike, Black Mountain Tower is on your doorstep.

In Canberra we also have access to e-scooters. These e-scooters, or electric scooters use a rechargeable battery as a power source.

Applying for accommodation

When do I apply for accommodation?

There are different ways to apply depending on your pathway to entering the Australian National University.

Applying as a direct applicant

As a domestic direct undergraduate applicant, you are guaranteed accommodation in one of our approved residences. Your accommodation application is included as part of your direct application to ANU. No additional application is required. When you apply, you will be asked to nominate your accommodation preference. We will do our best to offer you your preference, however this is not guaranteed.

Applying as a UAC applicant

Including non-direct domestic undergraduate applicants, domestic postgraduate and international applicants.

If you are applying, then your application must be completed in full and submitted within the specified dates. Incomplete applications are not considered.

All accommodation applications are free and there is no obligation so we encourage you to make an application within the timelines.

You do not need to wait for an academic offer to complete your application. Accommodation offers are triggered by academic offers so, if you decide not to come to ANU, your application will not be considered.

It is not a first-come, first-serve system. All applications are considered and all applications are reviewed equally at the close of the application period. Once you submit your application, nothing further is required to assess your application.

Your accommodation offer will be sent to the email you included in your application.

How do I apply?

What are the key steps?

Step 1:

Browse your accommodation options to decide which residence is the best choice for you. We have both catered and non-catered options, as well as communal and apartment living options.

https://youtu.be/Kr_fUNx6cfc
https://youtu.be/RKR7X3in3rs

Look at the 360 videos and 3D virtual tours of each residence on our website to give you a better sense of the amenities and lifestyle they offer www.anu.edu.au/study/accommodation/student-residences.

When you apply for accommodation, you will be asked to nominate your preferred residence. We will do our best to offer you your preference, however this is not guaranteed.

Step 2:

Check to see if you are covered by the accommodation guarantee. Deadlines for applying for accommodation depend on whether you meet the criteria for an accommodation guarantee. We guarantee an offer of accommodation to the following undergraduate students:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Indigenous students</th>
<th>Undergraduate students with a disability</th>
<th>Tuckwell scholars, incoming approved exchange students</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>First year, first semester, domestic undergraduate students</td>
<td>First year, first semester, international undergraduate students</td>
<td>Transferring undergraduate students from another institution</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ANU Medical School students</td>
<td></td>
<td>Up to 50 local places for First year, first semester students of the ACT</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Step 3:
Applications for accommodation are submitted through the Accommodation Services Portal and managed centrally. You will need to:

1. Register in the ANU Accommodation portal; www.anu.edu.au/study/accommodation/advice-procedures/how-to-apply-for-accommodation
2. Receive a registration confirmation email
3. Complete your application in full.

Step 4:
Receive and accept your offer. Accommodation offers are made on a rolling basis. Offers are made separately from your offer to study at the ANU and can be offered at any point up to commencement of semester.

You will receive an email with the information regarding your offer outcome and you will need to accept the offer within the timelines as stated.

Applications are free and there is no obligation to accept an offer. If you accept an offer of accommodation but decide not to come to the ANU, you must withdraw by the dates indicated in the 'Important Dates' section.

Important considerations

You should apply for accommodation before you are offered an academic place at ANU, even if you aren’t sure if you will accept your offer of study.

You may receive an offer for a residence different to your selected preference and costs may vary (e.g. you may have preferred a catered residence, but you may be offered self-catered).

If you want to change or cancel your accommodation, please email accommodation services on uni.accom@anu.edu.au or call on +61 (2) 6125 1100. Please provide your 6-digit application ID, student ID and full name at the time of contact. Please refer to the ‘Important Dates’ section.
Financial assistance

There are a small number of bursaries and scholarships available: some are designed to help with your ongoing accommodation costs and others can help out during unexpected emergencies. You must be an enrolled student to apply for these bursaries www.anu.edu.au/study/accommodation/financial-support.

ANUSA (ANU Undergraduate Students Association) and PARSA (Postgraduate and Research Students Association) also provide emergency accommodation assistance to eligible enrolled undergraduate and postgraduate students who are experiencing an emergency that has resulted in difficulties securing accommodation.

To find out if you are eligible for grants, require more information or want the application form:

- Undergraduate Students should contact ANUSA assistance officers at sa.assistance@anu.edu.au.
- Postgraduate Students should contact parsa.assistance@anu.edu.au.

Other options

Griffin Hall

ANU offers opportunities for students who are not living in campus accommodation to engage in a dynamic and connected university experience through our non-residential hall.

The Griffin Hall community was established in 2010, offering various events and activities, support and programs for students living off-campus. Griffin Hall is open to all ANU students living off-campus — provided that they are not already a member of an ANU residential hall or affiliated programs. For more information refer to: www.anu.edu.au/students/communities-events/griffin-hall-non-residential-community.
