

Procedure: Research Training Program scholarships

Purpose

To detail the standards, processes and conditions for Australian Government Research Training Program (RTP) scholarship support. This document should be read in conjunction with the Research Awards Rule 2016 and the Research Training Program scholarships policy.

Procedure

Support and benefits

1. RTP scholarships are available for eligible HDR programs.
2. RTP Fee Offset scholarships are applied to students' tuition fees, removing liability for these fees, and are exempt from Australian income tax.
3. RTP Stipend scholarships are paid to students to assist with their living costs while studying. Full-time RTP Stipend scholarships are exempt from Australian income tax, while part-time RTP Stipend scholarships are taxable.
4. The RTP Stipend rate is effective from 1 January 2017 and will be updated annually. RTP Stipend amounts are published annually online.
5. RTP Fee Offsets amounts (for both high-cost and low-cost degrees) are published online.
6. Allowances are available to students who hold a RTP Stipend scholarship to assist with ancillary costs as outlined below in the Allowances section.

Selection and offers

Domestic students

7. Domestic RTP Stipend scholarships are awarded through a competitive ranking process, to the top ranked candidates, subject to evidence they meet merit-based selection criteria, and subject to confirmation of a qualified supervisor, space and resources being available, in an area of research that is aligned with ANU research strategy. More information about the principles that underpin the University's scholarships ranking process can be found here.

8. To be considered for award of a RTP Stipend scholarship, students have normally achieved a minimum of H1 or H1 equivalent in their prior studies.

International students

9. International RTP Stipend scholarships and RTP Fee Offset scholarships are awarded to top-ranked candidates through a competitive process, subject to evidence they meet merit-based selection criteria, and subject to confirmation of a qualified supervisor, space and resources being available, in an area of research that is aligned with ANU research strategy. Information about the principles that underpin the University's scholarships ranking process can be found here.

10. To be considered for an RTP Stipend scholarship and/or International RTP Fee Offset scholarship, students have normally achieved a minimum of H1 or H1 equivalent in their prior studies.

Offers

11. RTP scholarship offers are made in writing and include advice about the types of assistance and support being offered, the conditions and period of support of the RTP scholarship, and the estimated annual value of Australian Government support provided for each type of RTP scholarship support.

12. Scholarship offers expire if the eligible HDR program is not commenced by the date specified in the letter of offer.

Students transferring from another institution

13. Before transferring to the ANU in an eligible HDR program, students changing institutions undertake actions in accordance with the ANU's admissions policies and the Research Awards Rule 2016. Students are required to declare prior RTP scholarships (as detailed in the Period of Support section of this procedure) and those made available under the former Research Training Scheme including:

- Australian Postgraduate Award (APA);
- Research Training Scheme (RTS);
- International Postgraduate Research Scholarship (IPRS).

Continuing students (enrolled prior to 1 January 2017)

14. Students who were offered and have accepted support under the Commonwealth Scholarship Guidelines prior to 1 January 2017 are awarded support as follows:

- a. Australian Postgraduate Award (APA) recipients are transferred to an RTP Stipend scholarship;
- b. Research Training Scheme (RTS) recipients are transferred to an RTP Fee Offset scholarship;
- c. International Postgraduate Research Scholarship (IPRS) recipients are transferred to an RTP International Fee Offset scholarship.

Period of support

15. The typical RTP stipend scholarship period for a PhD student is 3 years. Extensions of up to 6 months may be granted if reasons for requiring additional stipend support fall within the criteria outlined in the Extension of Scholarship section. The maximum period of RTP stipend scholarship support for a PhD student may be available to some students undertaking an industry placement, internship, professional practice activity or an ANU flagship program, as well as to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander RTP stipend scholarship recipients.
