

2021 National Indigenous Autumn School

2021 National Indigenous Autumn School

Due to COVID-19, we have decided to run two Schools in 2021: one in April as the Autumn School and one in December as the Summer School. The Autumn School in April 2021 will only accept applications from NSW and ACT students; however, students from other states can apply but will only be considered for the Summer School in December 2021.

The Tjabal Indigenous Higher Education Centre, the ANU Science and Engineering Colleges and the ANU Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences Colleges will host an Autumn School for Indigenous students currently in years 10 and 11 who have an interest in university studies.

This week-long Autumn School will run from 10th – 17th April 2021, to provide learning experiences to help inform education and career aspirations and goals. Students will participate in a program of hands-on activities from a range of discipline fields on the theme of 'Global Challenges: People, Places and Communities'.

Expert academic staff, Indigenous university students and staff will mentor participants through a fun-filled program in the nation's capital, which promises rewarding experiences on and off campus.

The Tjabal Centre and ANU Colleges cover all accommodation, transport, catering and workshop materials.

There are two streams running in the Autumn School with 15 places in each: the Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics and Medicine (STEMM) stream and the Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences (HASS) stream. You can only select one Autumn School stream to attend; details of subjects covered are in the table below.

To be considered for one of the 30 spots in the Autumn Schools, you need to be:

- A current Year 10 or 11 student in ACT or NSW
- Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander
- Interested in Science and Humanities subjects.
