

CITATION – Associate Professor Anna Cowan, ANU College of Science

The Chancellor’s Award for Outstanding Service to the Campus Community is awarded for exceptional dedication and service to the campus community beyond normal expectations.

Associate Professor Anna Cowan serves as ‘Deputy Dean Education’ for both the College of Science and the College of Health and Medicine, a position that encompasses both the Associate Dean (Education) and the Associate Dean (HDR) roles for two very large colleges. She is an inspiring leader and advocate for education, and for the student experience, both within the two Colleges and across the University more broadly. Anna works tirelessly, carrying a huge workload, and is a source of knowledge, wisdom and excellent judgement. And she is passionate about the national role of the university, playing a lead role in the foundation of the National Indigenous Summer School, and in the University’s engagement with organisations such as the National Youth Science Foundation and Science Olympiad which introduce students to tertiary STEM studies and careers, and which bring extraordinarily talented students to the ANU.
