3.2.2 Staff Suggested Steps

8 In order to mark the calendar, you must first choose a reason for your unavailability.
   a Select unavailable reasons. These will be colour coded when clicking a calendar timeslot.
   b Provide comments. This is optional. The comment defaults by the reason you selected.

9 The following steps are taken to mark the unavailable timeslots in the calendar table:
   c If you do not teach any evening classes, you do NOT need to mark any of these hours as unavailable.
   d There is an Add/Delete radio button at the top right of the table. Add is the default option.
   e To mark the unavailable time(s), click corresponding boxes in the calendar table.
   f Alternatively, to mark a whole day as unavailable, click the corresponding day box along the top. Similarly, to mark the whole week of a particular timeslot as unavailable, click its corresponding time box down the side. You can also drag to select multiple timeslots.
   g You can enter multiple comments against each reason. You need to mark the timeslots for the first comment first, then enter a new comment and select the timeslots to which the second comment applies.
   h To delete a filled box, first click the Delete radio button, then click the timeslots you would like to delete. You can also clear the whole table by clicking the Clear All button. These buttons are at the top right of the table.
   i Core available teaching hours are calculated at the bottom left of the table. Evening classes are not included in the calculation.

10 If you need to upload supporting documentation, such as lab booking confirmation, click the Upload New button to upload your document.

11 Click the checkbox to declare the information above is true and correct and you are complying with requirements regarding teaching hours in the ANU Timetabling policy and procedure. Please also be aware any personal information will be available to College Associate Deans of Educations, your supervisor(s) and saved to your personnel file on ERMS.

12 Click the Submit button to submit the eForm. You can click the Summary button to download the output documents on the submitted page. This includes your submitted time slots in a table view. Your supervisor(s) will also be notified of your teaching unavailability.

4 Next steps

The submitted unavailability timeslots will be viewed by your supervisor(s), College ADE, School ADE, College/School Administrative staff, and Timetable team. However, only your supervisors and college ADE can view your reasons for unavailability and have the right to decline or revise your application. You will only be notified if the application is declined or revised.

Before the eForm closes (date advertised on the web page), you can change your submitted teaching unavailability by submitting the Teaching Unavailability eForm again. You don’t need to fill a new eForm if your availability remains the same. Your supervisor(s) must be aware of your change before submitting the eForm again. They will also be notified of your change after submission.
If you have missed the deadline to submit this eForm (advertised on the web page), you should speak to your ADE and they can submit a form on your behalf. After that date, please contact your local college admin and requests will have to be taken through the Dean via Timetabling’s traditional process.

The teaching unavailability data will be automatically uploaded to timetable system about two weeks the eForm closes. This unavailability applies to both semester 1 and semester 2. In March you will be able to amend your teaching unavailability for semester 2.
